

Playful: narratives of three artists

Carmen Simmonds | Graeme Hitchcock | Karin Barr

2 – 31 October 2021, Wallace Arts Trust Gallery Annex

Three contemporary artists showcase their diverse practices, formulating their ideas through their love of kiln formed glass and the opportunity for playful experimentation. Three individual narratives demonstrate the immense versatility of cast glass, the artist's freedom to 'mix it up', and the accumulated skills from years of experience within the discipline of glass art.

Carmen Simmonds

I have always been interested in the historical nature of texture and form, along with the many crafts associated with women's work. Mixing new and traditional techniques to create unique sculptural objects has been my focus for more than 20 years and 'play' has been the key concept in the development of my art practice.

These works are my current explorations into expressing my thoughts through text, form and mix media.

Graeme D Hitchcock

All of my life I have been pushed and driven by a somewhat hyper-active mind resulting in an extremely busy life. Surviving this trait was/is a challenge.

It was suggested meditation could be the key. 30 years on it is one of the most important things in my life. For this Play Exhibition I have tried to express the practice in glass sculptures in the simple forms of a 3 legged stool, bowls and keys. Bringing it together with the simple words 'Be still and know.....'

Karin Barr

Generally my work underlines an interest in simple forms showing clear and strong lines. Attending a Cast Glass & Bronze Workshop and becoming a student in a glass blowing mentoring program this year opened up a new freedom to explore and play with simple forms. By revisiting previously learnt crafts and adding newly learnt techniques a new playful 'mix up' RING series evolved. The variously sized RINGS become a symbol of creativity, love, relationship and beauty.
